Equality, Justice and Harmony

We fight for Equality among gender, Justice to all and Family Harmony

Summary: The term "Crimes by Indian women" covers a broad range of atrocities, harassments, false cases, violent acts committed by Women on men mostly on her husband / partner. Some news also covers instances where men took the drastic step and killed the wife and her family when his tolerance reached the peak of harassment and was left with no option of solution under laws of India which are biased against men. Because of this many men suffer in silence and many a times die in the hands of women too.

Key Findings: Majority of the men are ashamed to come forward to report such daily abuse in the hands of their wives. Most of the news report we collected reveal that most women use their gender to get away with the crime they committed, even if the partner/husband is killed. Indian courts are lenient towards women and they are sentenced to less than 2/3 years for the murder of the husband. Law always portray women as ABLA NARI (Victim/Innocent) and her husband was killed by her while defending herself of his abuse. Dead men will not speak, Indian Police will not investigate nor do Indian courts take any suo moto to charge such criminal women.

Methodology: Information for this report was sourced from various secondary sources, and various News publications which are listed in the Reference List with source after every news report. This report is not a comprehensive review of the available literature but provides a broad overview of the topic. It is an effort to highlight the plight of Men who are neglected by World Organizations and Government bodies. Even the survey data study Institutes or Media is not ready to publish such abuse, harassment and killings of Men.

Introduction: MyNation analysis of statistics on Crimes by Indian Women shows that the number of men attacked/abused/harassed and killed by wives and girlfriends are much higher than ever thought. If a Woman dies even by accident, news media reports the death as tragic and highlight it in the main page of main stream media. In India it's often assumed that the women are ABLA NARI, the victim and men are the perpetrator/abuser. But the evidence collected by MyNation demonstrates that this is a false predomination, promoted by feminists and women organizations.

Terming men as perpetrator is not only common by Feminists controlled Media but even Maneka Gandhi, the elected union minister of Government of India for women and child development. She openly mentioned that the role of men in gender sensitization was critical since "all the violence is male-generated", which implies that it applies even to her Father and son.

Union minister Maneka Gandhi's actual motive is to say is not only Brand men as violent but term Women as ABLA NARI. ABLA is a Hindi/Sanskrit word which means "helpless". Nari means Women. By twisting meaning of one word she can justify two theories that all men are violent and all women are victims of Men.

10). WOMEN KILL HUSBAND - LOCKDOWN WAS THE FINAL STRAW

65-yr-old woman who developed mental health issues after losing both her sons murders her husband; he was unable to get meds to control her temper

A mentally challenged woman who could not get medicines on time reportedly murdered her husband by attacking him with sharp weapons at their house, in the vicinity of the 4th phase of KIADB on the Hosakote-Hosur Main Road on Friday at around 3 am.

The victim has been identified as Ramaswamy Reddy, 70; the accused is Reddy's wife, Gowamma, 65. After losing both her sons one after the other, the woman is alleged to have been under severe mental shock and started displaying violent behaviour. Reddy is an agriculturist and his wife was a homemaker.

“After the death of her two sons, Gowamma developed mental health issues and was reportedly being treated at National Institute of Mental Health and Neurosciences (NIMHANS) for her mental illness. Due to the nation-wide lockdown, Reddy was unable to get her the tablets she needed. Gowamma's behaviour was so volatile that fearing an attack, Reddy would sleep in their other house, close by. On Friday morning, her behaviour got out of hand and she attacked her husband. The chaos woke the neighbours and when they came to check, she apparently tried to attack them too,” said an officer on part of the investigation.

“Seeing Reddy injured, the neighbours drove him to a government hospital in Malur. From there, he was being taken to another hospital in Kolar in the ambulance where he succumbed to injuries,” added the officer.

It is said that the woman was not even aware of having killed her husband. When the relatives went to see her at the police station, she reportedly asked them to send her husband.

“After her arrest, her relatives brought to our notice that she is mentally challenged and even furnished copies regarding her treatment. The woman has been arrested and subjected to medical tests. Since she has already killed her husband, she would be a threat to even others,” the officer added.

A case of murder under section 302 of the Indian Penal Code has been registered against the woman.

The police arranged for the man and his 13-year-old son to stay in a night-shelter while the girls were handed over to a shelter home through the City Childline.

Director of City Childline, Archana Sahaye, told TOI that the couple had a dispute following which the woman threw her children and husband out of the house and locked the door. Despite several attempts, she did not open the door.

"The man reached the Ashoka Garden police station around 11 pm and they tried to call up the wife to help the two reconcile. When the wife did not budge, the husband asked the police officers to help him arrange for a safe place for his daughters while the boy stayed with him at a nearby Rain basera," said Sahaye.

The Childline team coordinated with the Ashoka Garden police and got a shelter home in the city to help the two.

"It was freezing and after all the efforts by the police and the husband to make the wife take them back proved futile, the girls were sent to a shelter home at 1 am. They will be kept there till such time the couple sort out their differences," Sahaye added.

Ashoka Garden station house officer Umesh Yadav said that cops have called the wife to the police station on Monday and as they did not file an FIR, because it was the couple's personal issue, the man and his wife will be sent for counselling.

"The girls are safe in the shelter home and the boy is with his father. We will try to provide the couple with proper counselling and make the wife take her family back. We could not talk to the girls on Sunday, but will record their statement if the need arises. So far, an FIR has not been lodged and we are hoping that the couple will sort out their differences for the sake of the children," said Yadav.

22).Punjab: Man facing dowry charges commits suicide

PATIALA: A 52-two-year-old man on Sunday allegedly committed suicide in Patiala by consuming some poisonous substance two days after he appeared in the police station to join the investigation in a case related to dowry and breach of trust.

The deceased has been identified as Jagdish Singh. The police have booked Jagdish's distant relative Lalit Kumar, 38, of Dhamoli village, an employee in private industry, under sections of abetment to suicide at Banur police station.

Deceased's family alleged that Lalit Kumar somehow developed an extramarital affair with Jagdish's 21-year-old unmarried daughter. They added that around six months ago Lalit's wife came to know about the illicit relations and got annoyed and then she managed to get registered a case of dowry against her husband Lalit, his family members and Lalit's relatives including Jagdish and his 21-year-old daughter.

"Only two days before committing suicide Jagdish has appeared before the court and also visited the police station as he joined the investigation in a case registered against him under sections of dowry. He was a distant relative of the complainant and it seems that he was wrongly implicated in this case by my predecessors but we are investigating into the matter thoroughly," Banur police station SHO Subash Kumar said.

"Lalit's wife earlier also landed in a mutual compromise in dowry case after both Lalit and Jagdish's daughter had assured her not to continue their illicit relations. However, both of them allegedly continued their affair and this remained the bone of contention between the Lalit's wife and Jagdish and his family. Jagdish appeared before the court in this case and I had assured him to get him justice. He has written this in his suicide note too. We are verifying all the facts and will also probe that how a case of dowry was registered against him despite the fact that his involvement does not seems to be", said Subash Kumar.

On Sunday evening, the couple got involved in a heated argument after consuming liquor at their residence. In a fit of rage, Priya assaulted Annamalai with a stone. Annamalai suffered severe head injuries and died instantly. Police said she killed her husband in the presence of her minor daughter.

A few hours later, Priya became normal and found her husband lying dead in a pool of blood. She rang up her elder sister's husband K Selvaraj, 35, from Jalikottai near Kanavaipudur in Salem district, who hired an ambulance and travelled to Coimbatore the same night.

The duo then took Annamalai's body to his native place at Naduvaneri in Salem early on Monday and told the relatives that her husband had died after a fall under the influence of alcohol.

However, M Sengodan, 40, the elder brother of the deceased, refused to believe their version and informed Magudanchavadi police that there was something amiss. Police took the body to Salem government hospital for a postmortem, which revealed that Annamalai had died of head injuries.

Following the report, Chettipalayam police registered a case against Priya under IPC section 302 (murder) and section 201 (causing disappearance of evidence of offence, or giving false information) against Selvaraj. Both were arrested on Tuesday and remanded to judicial custody.

27).Day after Haldwani murder, woman accompanying victim held for plotting crime

Nainital: Police on Friday claimed to have solved the murder of 31-year-old Nazim Khan who was shot dead in broad daylight in Chanda Devi forest area in Haldwani by unidentified men on Thursday.

Addressing a press conference in Bhimtal, police said that the woman accompanying the victim plotted the murder as she was miffed by the fact that he had married another girl despite promising to marry her. “Though both Nazim and the woman are married, they had a relationship for several years and Nazim had even promised to marry her. However, he got married to another girl a few months ago. This miffed the woman who then conspired to kill him,” said Bhowali circle officer (CO), Anusha Badola. The woman had earlier told police that she and Nazim were sitting along the road when three men came and started passing comments at her. This led to a fight and then they shot him. However, police rubbished the statement saying that the woman was trying to deceive them by concocting stories. “We have arrested the accused, identified as Radheshyam, after watching CCTV footages of the area. He has confessed to the crime. We have also seized from him the country pistol which was used in the murder,” Badola said.

Police added that to evade arrest, Radheshyam had got himself admitted to Haldwani hospital after shooting Nazim. “We have also taken into custody the woman who was with Nazim,” Badola said.

Police added that the woman is married and has two daughters. However, her husband is paralysed and lives in Rampur district of Uttar Pradesh.

29). Gurugram: Woman gets 5-year jail for snatching cellphone, Rs 1,000

GURUGRAM: A woman from Badshapur was sentenced to five years in jail by a city court on Friday for snatching a mobile phone and Rs 1,000). The accused had snatched a handbag from an elderly woman in Sadar Bazar in March last year. This is the second time under the Act that a woman is awarded five years of imprisonment in a snatching case in Gurugram. On March 3 last year, Vikash — an Indian Air Force personnel — had gone to Sadar Bazar for shopping with his mother-in-law when a woman snatched her handbag before fleeing. The handbag had mobile phone, Rs 1,000 and some documents.

Vikash tried to chase the woman but taking advantage of the crowd, she managed to escape from the spot. A case was registered at City police station under section 379A (snatching) of IPC. Within a few days, police arrested Poonam (25) who is from Uttar Pradesh. She is staying in Badshapur area, according to the police. After filing the case, investigators put the phone under surveillance. “Soon after snatching the bag, the accused had switched off the phone and removed its SIM card. But after a few days, phone became active with a new number. We tracked the phone using its IMEI number,” said a police officer. He said it was found that the accused bought a new SIM card in her father’s name and was using it in the stolen phone. In a few days, she was tracked and arrested.

Vikash and his mother-in-law could identify the accused in the court. On the basis of the probe findings and the witnesses’ statements, district and sessions judge Man Mohan Dhonchak held her guilty and awarded five years of rigorous imprisonment. She was also fined Rs 25,000). In 2015, Haryana became the first in the country to make the law against snatching harsher. A person convicted of snatching could be sentenced for a maximum of 10 years of jail, as per the amended law. Two new clauses of the law — 379A and 379B — have been added

32).Man kills estranged wife in Bengaluru, mom-in-law in Kolkata, shoots self

KOLKATA/BENGALURU: A city chartered accountant flew to Bengaluru last weekend, murdered his estranged wife at her Whitefield home and then returned to Kolkata, where he shot dead his mother-in-law and then killed himself at an upscale residential complex in Phoolbagan on Monday evening.

The murder-murder-suicide came in the middle of acrimonious divorce proceedings that might have involved a dispute over property, cops said after an initial probe. Both Amit and Shilpi Agarwal were chartered accountants and were living separately — husband in Kolkata and wife in Bengaluru — for the last two years after the marriage turned sour. A 10-year-old son survived the grisly events of the past three days; Amit brought him back from Bengaluru on Monday and left him at his brother’s residence in Kolkata before heading to Phoolbagan, cops said.

Amit knocked on his in-laws’ door, on the second floor of Tower B of Rameshwaram Apartments — a residential complex on Ramakrishna Samadhi Road — around 5).30pm on Monday. Shilpi’s parents, 70-year-old Subhas and 62-year-old Lalita Dhandhanias, were there and allowed Amit in, cops learnt from their neighbours.

Some time later, however, neighbours heard heated arguments that continued for some time. Neighbours later told cops that the debate “appeared to be” over some property documents that Amit wanted the Dhandhanias to sign.

Neighbours heard the first gunshot a little before 6).30pm, following which Subhas ran out of his flat, bolted the door from outside and took refuge inside his next-door neighbour’s apartment. Cops were called and they arrived a few minutes later and entered the Dhandhanias’ home, where they found Lalita’s and Amit’s lifeless bodies. “The mother-in-law’s body was lying on the floor and Amit’s body was on a bed,” a senior police officer said, adding that cops had recovered the revolver that Amit had used to kill his mother-in-law and himself.

“We recovered a suicide note from the flat,” joint commissioner of police (crime) Murlidhar Sharma said. “It said that he had killed his wife in Bengaluru. We contacted cops there and the Whitefield deputy commissioner of police confirmed that Shilpi’s decomposed body was recovered from her home,” he added.

Cops in Bengaluru told TOI that Shilpi’s body was recovered from Brigade Metropolis apartment in Mahadevapura, Whitefield Road, around 9pm on Monday. The flat bore the signs of a fight, officials said, adding that many items were scattered in the hall. “It indicates that Shilpi had opposed Amit’s entry and there seemed to have been a fight near the entrance itself. There seems to have been another scuffle near the kitchen, with smashed glass tumblers and damaged utensils lying around. The murder occurred near the bedroom,” an investigating officer said. Amit would visit Bengaluru when there were court hearings, cops said quoting neighbours, and most of these visits would end in fights. Deputy commissioner of police (Whitefield) MN Anuchet said investigators would speak to neighbours to learn more about the couple.

Officials in Kolkata said Amit returned from Bengaluru with his son on Monday. “He went to his brother’s residence and left his 10-year-old son with him before starting out for Phoolbagan,” an officer said, adding that Amit and Shilpi had married in 2005).

Cops in Kolkata have got in touch with Shilpi’s brother to help the probe. “It is important to find out what transpired immediately before the murder-suicide at the Phoolbagan flat. Did Amit divulge anything there? We are trying to get these details from Subhas,” an official said.

34).Woman kills husband over his drinking habit

Nagpur: A 41-year-old woman surrendered before Ajni police on Thursday night after allegedly bludgeoning her husband to death with a hammer at Jaywant Nagar. The accused has been identified as Mamta Porandwar, a resident of Bhagwan Nagar. She took the drastic step allegedly due to her husband's drinking habit and relations with other women.

Sources said the deceased Mahesh, a transporter-turned-moneylender, had been living away from Mamta and his son for the last four months and did not give any money to them for daily expenses forcing Mamta to take up a job as a caretaker. She is learnt to have gone to the rented house of Mahesh on Thursday to ask him for money for their son's college admission.

Mamta's son Manthan, a BCCA second year student, told TOI, "My father did not used to give any money. Whenever we went to speak with him he would abuse us. Some days back when we had gone to speak with him, he and his neighbours attacked us. My mother had sustained injuries on her face but when we went to the police to file a complaint we saw my father filing a complaint against her for assault."

Manthan claimed that his mother was suffering from severe depression and migraine. "She was undergoing treatment at GMCH," he said. It is learnt that Mamta had taken several pills before going to meet Mahesh at his house in Jaywant Nagar. "I later found several empty packets of pills at the home," Manthan said.

Police said a fight broke out between husband and wife. In the fit of anger Mamta picked up a hammer and hit Mahesh on the head. He fell down. Mamta feared that if he got up, he would beat her up, so she continued to hit him with the hammer.

39).Case against wife, in-laws for abetting man's suicide

A case of abetment of suicide has been registered against a woman and her parents after her husband hanged himself earlier this month. DD Tribhuvan, the deceased, had allegedly informed his mother before his death that his wife and inlaws used to harass him and 'treated him like a servant'.

Tribhuvan's mother Shobha lodged an FIR after his death on February 1, based on which the Rabale MIDC police in Navi Mumbai started their investigation. According to the FIR, Jalgaon resident Tribhuvan met Ashwini, a resident of Navi Mumbai, through Facebook and they got married in May 2019, against the wishes of the girl's family. The couple then settled in Jalgaon. As per the complaint, the couple used to quarrel as Ashwini wanted them to move to Navi Mumbai.

During Diwali last year, the couple visited Ashwini's residence, after which they started living there. The FIR also states that later, Tribhuvan rented a flat near his in-laws' place. Tribhuvan also got a job in a security company.

According to Shobha's complaint, when she had visited Tribhuvan's place in December last year, her son had told her that during his stay at his in-laws' place, he was made to work as a cook and a servant. On January 31, Shobha received a call from Ashwini's mother, who informed her that Ashwini had returned to her maternal home after a quarrel with her husband during which Tribhuvan had hit her. When Shobha spoke to Tribhuvan about it, he said that it was Ashwini who had slapped him twice during the quarrel. "Tribhuvan also informed his mother that he had noted down all the information about the harassment in his phone," said a police officer. The next day, Tribhuvan hanged himself.

Senior inspector Nitin Gite said a case was registered under sections 306 (abetment of suicide) and 34 (common intention) of the Indian Penal Code against Ashwini and her parents. No arrests have been made so far. "We have also found a note in Tribhuvan's phone in which he had written about the ill-treatment he

40).EMPLOYEE DUPES JP MORGAN OF RS 3).5 CR IN GIFT VOUCHER SCAM

JP Morgan, the American multinational, has filed a case of cheating against one of its employees for allegedly embezzling Rs 3).5 crore under the pretext of ordering gift vouchers meant for the outperforming workers.

The case was registered in Powai police station by the senior vice president of the company against the employee identified as Preet Saani on January 18).

According to the complainant, the company deals in providing IT inbuilt services and has around 15,000 people working in Mumbai. In order to incentivise well-performing employees, the company gives them a gift voucher worth Rs 1,000 as a token of appreciation.

The source said the accused, who worked as an assistant to a business managing director of the company, would get the requests from the team leaders of the company for gift vouchers, and accordingly she was supposed to place the order from authorised vendors.

In January 2019, an employee working in the CEO’s office found a few boxes in Saani’s office. On checking , 2,600 gift vouchers (of zero value) were found in them. This raised the suspicion of the office staff and an inquiry was initiated, suspecting irregularities in the procurement of gift vouchers. Meanwhile, Saani went on sick leave for three months and did not resume office.

The company in its internal investigation found that from February 2016 to November 2018, Saani had ordered gift vouchers worth Rs 3).5 crore. Interestingly, in the year 2018, the team leaders had asked for only 242 gift vouchers while Saani allegedly ordered 1,7000 vouchers worth Rs 1).96 crore.

“It has been revealed in the company’s inquiry that Saani ordered the excessive gift vouchers without having any requirement for it . She took the delivery of the vouchers outside the office, and used them for her personal benefit. She also used the 2,600 vouchers which were of zero value to cheat the company by showing them as original vouchers – having a value of Rs 1,000 each,”said a police officer.

The officer said that Saani has been booked under relevant sections of Indian Penal Code for cheating and criminal breach of trust by clerk or servant.

Another officer said, “She used to order the vouchers from the authorised vendor and would get the payments approved from her seniors. However, there is a huge difference between the actual requirement of the vouchers by team leaders and the number of the vouchers ordered by her.”

75).Man kills estranged wife in Bengaluru, mom-in-law in Kolkata, shoots self

We had inadvertently uploaded a wrong photo in this story. We sincerely apologise for this error.

KOLKATA/BENGALURU: A city chartered accountant flew to Bengaluru last weekend, murdered his estranged wife at her Whitefield home and then returned to Kolkata, where he shot dead his mother-in-law and then killed himself at an upscale residential complex in Phoolbagan on Monday evening.

The murder-murder-suicide came in the middle of acrimonious divorce proceedings that might have involved a dispute over property, cops said after an initial probe. Both Amit and Shilpi Agarwal were chartered accountants and were living separately — husband in Kolkata and wife in Bengaluru — for the last two years after the marriage turned sour. A 10-year-old son survived the grisly events of the past three days; Amit brought him back from Bengaluru on Monday and left him at his brother's residence in Kolkata before heading to Phoolbagan, cops said.

Amit knocked on his in-laws' door, on the second floor of Tower B of Rameshwaram Apartments — a residential complex on Ramakrishna Samadhi Road — around 5).30pm on Monday. Shilpi's parents, 70-year-old Subhas and 62-year-old Lalita Dhandhanias, were there and allowed Amit in, cops learnt from their neighbours.

Some time later, however, neighbours heard heated arguments that continued for some time. Neighbours later told cops that the debate "appeared to be" over some property documents that Amit wanted the Dhandhanias to sign.

Neighbours heard the first gunshot a little before 6).30pm, following which Subhas ran out of his flat, bolted the door from outside and took refuge inside his next-door neighbour's apartment. Cops were called and they arrived a few minutes later and entered the Dhandhanias' home, where they found Lalita's and Amit's lifeless bodies. "The mother-in-law's body was lying on the floor and Amit's body was on a bed," a senior police officer said, adding that cops had recovered the revolver that Amit had used to kill his mother-in-law and himself.

"We recovered a suicide note from the flat," joint commissioner of police (crime) Murlidhar Sharma said. "It said that he had killed his wife in Bengaluru. We contacted cops there and the Whitefield deputy commissioner of police confirmed that Shilpi's decomposed body was recovered from her home," he added.

Cops in Bengaluru told TOI that Shilpi's body was recovered from Brigade Metropolis apartment in Mahadevapura, Whitefield Road, around 9pm on Monday. The flat bore the signs of a fight, officials said, adding that many items were scattered in the hall. "It indicates that Shilpi had opposed Amit's entry and there seemed to have been a fight near the entrance itself. There seems to have been another scuffle near the kitchen, with smashed glass tumblers and damaged utensils lying around. The murder occurred near the bedroom," an investigating officer said.

Amit would visit Bengaluru when there were court hearings, cops said quoting neighbours, and most of these visits would end in fights. Deputy commissioner of police (Whitefield) MN Anuchet said investigators would speak to neighbours to learn more about the couple.

Officials in Kolkata said Amit returned from Bengaluru with his son on Monday. “He went to his brother’s residence and left his 10-year-old son with him before starting out for Phoolbagan,” an officer said, adding that Amit and Shilpi had married in 2005).

Cops in Kolkata have got in touch with Shilpi’s brother to help the probe. “It is important to find out what transpired immediately before the murder-suicide at the Phoolbagan flat. Did Amit divulge anything there? We are trying to get these details from Subhas,” an official said.

A police team has left for Uttarpara Station Road to question Amit’s relatives. Cops are also probing from where Amit got the six-chamber revolver.

On Tuesday morning, a gruesome case came to light in Bhosari, where a man murdered his wife and then committed suicide. They had been married for 10 years and had a seven yearold daughter. The man wrote a brief suicide note before killing self, which mentions that he was sending his wife to her mother (who is no more) — thus confessing that he had murdered his wife before hanging self. A case has been registered by Bhosari police.

The deceased have been identified as Priyanka and Nilesh Deshmukh. Nilesh hails from Indore, whereas Priyanka hails from Amravati. They had settled in Bhosari a few years ago.

On Monday, Priyanka had sent her daughter to a friend's home. Around 9 pm, the friend called up Priyanka so that she could take her daughter home. However, she did not receive her phone. The friend then deemed it appropriate to keep Priyanka's daughter at her place overnight.

On Tuesday morning, the friend again called her. The call went unanswered. So, she went to Deshmukh's residence, where knocking on the door elicited no response. In a state of doubt, the friend called up the police, who entered the house after breaking the door. They found Nilesh's body hanging from the ceiling fan and Priyanka was lying on the bed. She was strangled to death.

Police inspector Shankar Avtade, attached to Bhosari police station, told Mirror, "The couple had a love marriage ten years ago. They would quarrel daily Nilesh had been unemployed for the last two years and Priyanka worked with a Tata showroom."

He then confirmed the ordeal, involving Priyanka's friend who dialed the cops upon receiving no response to multiple calls. "Priyanka's friend had reached the house at 10 am on Tuesday. She knocked on the door persistently before calling the police. The door was later opened with help from locals," he added.

During questioning, she admitted killing the child, saying that the constant arguments with her husband had angered her to a point that she killed the boy.

The father, Teklal Das, filed a police complaint, accusing his second wife Sarita Devi of killing his son.

He said that he earned a living by driving a tractor. On the day of the murder, Teklal returned home at 3 pm to have food with his son.

Teklal then went back out to work and did not return home until 7 pm. When he did not see his son, he asked Sarita who claimed that she put him to bed.

Even though no suicide note was recovered from the spot, the family suspects that his ongoing marital discord and financial trouble pushed him to suicide.

The family said they first got a call around 10am from a security guard of the society who said the man, an alumnus of IIT-Kanpur and IIM-Ahmedabad, had “burnt down his house and was admitted to a private hospital nearby”.

“When we reached the society, we found that he had jumped from his balcony and was dead,” the father, a resident of Delhi, said in his police complaint.

The family blames his wife for him ending his life. The couple had got married in 2014. According to family members, she was posted in a PSU in Haridwar at that time and he was working with a private firm in Gurugram.

“After a while, they both got transfers to Noida and moved to Sector 45. Soon afterwards, they started facing problems and my son ended up losing his job. He started his own venture but that also failed to take off. He was being constantly pressured by her family and one day, he told me that his father-in-law and two brothers-in-law had assaulted him and threatened to harm him. He had moved to the Sector 128 house after he filed for separation,” said the father in his complaint.

The wife had also filed a case against him, accusing him of subjecting her to cruelty, almost two years ago, when they separated. “He was under a lot of pressure and told us that her family was asking for Rs 50 lakh and a flat to withdraw that case. 87).Dalit man commits suicide in Hyderabad, blames in-laws for separating him from OBC wife

Srikanth’s family members told police that he had married Gadagoju Sriharsha who belonged to an Other Backward Caste, much against the wishes of her parents.

A Dalit man committed suicide by setting himself ablaze in Hyderabad in the early hours of Thursday after recording a video blaming his in-laws for taking away his wife and turning her against him, police said.

Chittipaka Srikanth (24) doused himself with kerosene and set himself ablaze at his residence in Santoshnagar area of the old city in yet another tragic end to an inter-caste marriage. He was rushed to Osmania General Hospital immediately, where he succumbed to his injuries in the afternoon.

Srikanth’s family members told the Santoshnagar police that he had married Gadagoju Sriharsha (23), who belonged to an Other Backward Caste, from Nakirekal town in Nalgonda district, at an Arya Samaj temple in Hyderabad in 2015, much against the wishes of her parents.

“A few months ago, Sriharsha became pregnant and her parents forcibly took her away to their home. Since then, they had not been allowing Srikanth to meet her,” the police quoted the relatives as saying.

In a video he shot on his mobile phone before he set himself on fire, Srikanth blamed his wife Sriharsha who is presently pursuing her MBBS, her father G Shanmukha Chary, other family members and a police constable for his suicide.

He alleged that Chary, who converted to Christianity, had brainwashed Sriharsha, forced her to undergo abortion and was looking for fresh alliances for her. “When I confronted them, my father-in-law started torturing me and harassing me by foisting cases against me and my family members. We were arrested and jailed for some time, before we came out on bail,” he said.

He said his wife had stopped talking to him. “I ran from pillar to post, including local politicians, seeking justice, but nobody came to my rescue,” he said.

The Santosh Nagar police are investigating the case.

Srikanth’s father Ch Muttaiah told reporters outside the hospital that his family had borne the entire expenditure for his daughter-in-law’s MBBS course and other needs, but her parents had forcibly separated the couple, after she got pregnant. “My son was madly in love with the girl and he could not forget her,” he said.

This is the third incident of trouble in inter-caste marriages in Telangana in less than a week. Pranay Perumalla, a Dalit engineering graduate was brutally murdered by a professional killer hired by his upper caste father-in-law T Maruthi Rao, who did not approve of Pranay’s marriage with his only daughter Amrutha Varshni in Miryalaguda town of Nalgonda district. The police arrested seven people including Amrutha’s father T Maruthi Rao on Tuesday.

101).Wife poisons, stabs man to death in Gandhinagar

AHMEDABAD: A 21-year-old woman, Umiya Patel, allegedly poisoned and stabbed her 23-year-old husband Vakji Patel, killing him, at Sector 6 in Gandhinagar on Tuesday evening. She had initially told investigators that her husband had poisoned himself before she stabbed him.

SP Gandhinagar, Mayur Chavda, said during her interrogation it emerged that she had poisoned him and later stabbed him because the poison was proving ineffective. Chavda said the accused was sent for a pre-arrest Covid test.

Inspector Amarsinh Chauhan of Sector 21 police station said the couple married about two years ago, but apparently did not like each other. “The woman lived at her parents’ house at Mangrol village in Tharad taluka of Banaskantha district. They would occasionally stay together at the house of Vakji’s father, Narbat Patel, in Tharad. Vakji, who had passed Class XII, worked at a printing press owned by one Vashram Patel in Gandhinagar. For the last few days, the couple were staying at a rented house in Gandhinagar,” added Chauhan.

According to the FIR lodged by the victim’s father Narbat Patel (Chaudhary), on Tuesday night, Umiya’s father, Premabhai, had called him and told him that Umiya had called him and said that something had happened to Vakji and he was unable to speak now. Police sources said they called a relative in the police, Jebhai Patel, and asked him to go to Vakji’s house while they left for Gandhinagar.

“According to the FIR, when they reach Vakji’s house, they saw policemen there and Vakji’s body in a pool of blood on the floor of the house. Umiya was sitting on the staircase weeping,” said a police official.

Equality, Justice and Harmony

We fight for Equality among gender, Justice to all and Family Harmony

This study Article / Report is based on news media coverage published in India in the first six months of 2020, and is not as collected by Women organizations using Fake statistics or cooked up sob stories which have no valid backing or proof.

There is a women behind every crime listed above, either she is involved directly abusing/abetting or killing a man or is the reason for the crime. In India Women is empowered to kill anyone and most of the time she escapes punishment because of the biased Indian laws which are favourable to Women and encourage them to take the lead in a crime. She will get away even though she is abetting the suicide of a man and even if she is charged, she will hardly be sentenced for 2/3 years. But if a man is convicted, he will get a life in prison which shows how the Indian Judiciary is biased.

All the above news stories show why men are committing suicide or sometimes even taking extreme steps like killing the wife and her family who harassed him throughout his married life. Most of the suicides are because of family problems, threats from wives to file fake cases, financial commitment towards the family, one sided laws, Reservation and Schemes meant only for females, zero support from Government, zero protection from current laws against false accusations and fake cases.

Recently feminists and Minister of NCW mentioned that women are harassed and abused during the COVID-19 Pandemic. There are many reports covered in the above news section of Men murdered during Lockdown, but there are no reports of Women killed by husband during the lockdown.

We agree with Maneka Gandhi's statement "all the violence is male-generated" but it's an incomplete sentence, it should be "All the violence is male-generated, for the women, by the women." If you see news listed above, most of the time women is the master mind behind the murder, harassment and abuse of the husband, but her vicious plan was executed by her lover/paramour or male member of her family.

We collected above news from the major news media houses published in English language only, if we cover all crimes done by women and published in India's vernacular languages news media and Police investigations then this crime count will be 10 times more than what we have collected. In this article we published 101 news reports only and we have more than 1000 plus more news articles.

There will be No wonder that once this article is published exposing the feminist agenda, the women wing sponsored and promoted by WCD/NCW may request Government of India to issue executive order to the puppet media, not to cover any such news of Crime by Women, because it's against their vested interests.

WE HEREBY REQUEST THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA AND NEWS MEDIA TO STOP PORTRAYING WOMEN AS ABLA, INNOCENT AND VICTIM OF MEN. CRIME HAS NO GENDER, WOMEN ARE CAPABLE ENOUGH TO COMMIT THE SAME CRIME AS MEN. CRIME IS CRIME AND PUNISHMENT SHOULD BE EQUAL TO ALL.
